

I am opposed to the LPFM stations in the area where I live. The hills of west Virginia make it difficult to keep radio stations in tune while traveling in a car. I used to listen to KLOVE radio on the Clarksburg station and got tired of it fading in and out. Then KLOVE bought a station in Grafton that is more powerful and now I can drive a 25 mile radius and not lose the signal. I think that KLOVE is very beneficial to the community because they talk about family values and only play Christian music. I don't have to worry about my kids hearing anything that is not appropriate on KLOVE.
